A new range of neat kits are now in stock

Got loads of different remedies hanging around the house, but no way of storing them properly? Can you never lay your hand on the remedy you want when you want? Fancy making your first foray into treating everyone homeopathically at home? I now have a range of kits in stock, from a lovely natty leather roll that packs up small for your suitcase, to handy four-remedy keyrings, to traditional kit boxes – and even an aluminium case to protect your remedies from airport scanners and radiation on planes.
